While providing information when joining or hosting a session, I will be presented with an optional pop-up input with 1-hour time intervals that I can select between 8 am and 10 pm. For each time interval that I choose, those times will be blocked from my availability in addition to restrictions from my Google calendar. If I do not select any times, only my Google calendar will determine my availability.